Assignment 3

2025. 07. 01

❑ Problem

Make a bank class to manage all bank accounts. The following class diagram presents the relationship among them.

The class, Bank, contains attributes related to the list of bank accounts and the total amounts for total transactions. When the bank account is registered, the method register_bank_account() is applied. However, the applied method is different depending on the type of registered account.

Also, the total amount and the maximum overdraft mount should be managed by the bank class. Some account cannot be registered because of not enough amount.
